PALAMA BOWS TO KAMAMALU IN BOXING SMOKER

Eddie Townsend's Kamamalu A.C. amateur boxers scored a 6-4 victory over Palama Settlement's team, coached by Dr. Jacob Ing and Peter Navarro, Monday, December 4, in the greatest smoker ever staged in the Settlement ring.

A packed house saw Louis Freitas, former St. Patrick feather ace, decision Palama's pride, David Roman, in a slashing lightweight battle. Superior ring generalship and experience proved to be the deciding factor in Freitas' triumph as the sensational Winged "P" novice carried the fight to the Kamamalu star.

Daniel Borero of Palama stamped himself the finest feather ever to lace on a pair of gloves at the Settlement by winning from veteran Joe Sueoka in a great exhibition. Wallace Murakami of Kamamalu scored a decision over Freddy Dela Rosa in the only flyweight bout of the sizzling 12-fight card. John Shiraishi, Kamamalu feather, made a brilliant comeback to the amateur fistic wars after a long lay-off by whipping Ken Miyashiro in a close fight. Shiraishi landed cleaner punches and was the aggressor throughout the mix.

Masaji Kawasugi of Kamamalu kayoed Smiling Cannon with one punch early in the first round with a right to the jaw in a featherweight scrap. Cannon was counted out on one knee. Amaro Medeiros, Kamamalu bantam, clicked with a first round TKO victory over Richard Sakai. Medeiros displayed a two fisted attack and swarmed all over Sakai, causing Referee Walter Cho to stop the fight.

Dan Aquiar, Unattached, was awarded a victory over George Ferreira of Kamamalu on a foul in the third round of a bruising middleweight bout. Ferreira was leading on points when he fouled Aquiar in a body exchange. Aquiar made a big hit with the fans with his ruggedness and game stand against a better boxer.

Moses Martinez of Palama decisioned Charles Kalahale in a rousing lightweight scrap which was a slugfest from start to finish. Both boys were exhausted at the end of the fight and were accorded a fine hand. Alfred Lum, Kamamalu lightweight, decisioned Cecil Lopez in another action-crammed encounter.

Leo Navarro of Palama opened the card by taking rugged George Miura in a fast featherweight match. Navarro employed a beautiful jab and a right cross to gain the verdict.

A hectic 12-game basketball menu was offered by the three sections of Palama Settlement's 120# cage league last week in the Westside gym. Section "A" outfits performed in triple-bills on Monday, November 27, and Friday, December 1, to make way for the Palama-Kamamalu boxing smoker scheduled for Monday, December 4.

Nuuanu Shokai and Kaahumanu each registered two victories during the week. The Shokais stopped a formidable opponent in whipping McCully 27-26. Sakuma, with nine points, led a well-balanced Nuuanu squad to victory. McCully's Oye, Ishizaki, and Tateishi played sterling ball but were not given able support by their teammates. The Shokais had a comparatively easy time in turning back Castle A.C. 26-14 in their second tussle of the week.

Kaahumanu took Tsuki-No-Kai 20-15, and the Westsidiers 36-13. Castle A. C. overwhelmed the Westsidiers 29-15, and McCully routed Tsuki-No-Kai 22-4 in the other "A" Section tussles.

Elmo Tomita's defending-champion Kamamalu Maroons barely nipped M.I.A. 20-19 in the opener of the "B" section triple-bill Tuesday, November 28. McInerny crushed Dwights 21-9, and Pirates "B" swamped Higuchi Tailors 34-13 in the remaining games.

Kaheka A.C. trampled Hui Aliis 26-6, Palms A.C. blanketed Pirates "A" 31-6, and Kamaaina Vikings conquered Kam Heights 32-11 in "C" Section tilts Thursday, November 30.

PALS DOWN KAKAAKO SONS IN ASUH CAGE DEBUT

Coach Walter Wong's Winged "P" junior cagers made an impressive debut into the A.S.U.H. Junior basketball league by whipping Kakaako Sons 38-28 in the curtain-raiser of a triple-attraction Friday, December 1, at the University of Hawaii gym.

The flashy Pals were sparked by James Lam, who rang the bucket for 14 points, and Henry Choy who tallied seven. Charley Kaninau and Francis Kapahua starred on defense.

Palama packed too much power for the Kakaako Sons and won as it pleased. Coach Wong used his entire squad, and all performed in big league fashion.

The Pals will meet Francis Aiwahi's Cromwell Hawaiians in the first game of a triple-bill Friday, December 8, at 6:40 p.m. The Cromwells are composed of Farrington High School stars.

FAVORITES WIN IN PAL 135# BASKETBALL LOOP

SECTION "A"

Castle A. C.	41;	McInerny	30
Honolulu Vocats	20;	Musa Shiya	2

SECTION "B"

Abell's Crusaders	2;	Elfs A. C.	0
Diamond Packers	25;	Alex Sandwich	17
Kaheka A. C.	24;	Pirates	19

Favorites came through as expected in Palama Settlement's 135# basketball league tussles Sunday, December 3, in the West-side gym to blast their way into the championship round-robin series. Castle A.C. and Honolulu Vocational School in Section "A", and Abell's Crusaders and Diamond Packers in "B" Section survived the fourth week of play with unblemished records to qualify for the play-offs.

Sectional championships will be decided Sunday, December 10, when Castle tackles Honolulu Vocational School and Abell's Crusaders take on Diamond Packers.

Sylvester Abili's star-studded Castle A.C. squad stymied a desperate McInerny effort to gain the play-offs by whipping the Monarchs 41-30 in a great game. Only the brilliant shooting of Larry Chun, who scored 19 points, enabled the Castles to stave off the fighting Monarchs. Wai Chong Chun gave him able support by tallying 10 digits. Takabayashi registered nine for McInerny.

Edward Sumida's Honolulu Vocational cagers paced the Castles into the play-off series by swamping Musa Shiya 20-2. Fukumoto chalked up nine points for the Vocats. Kapua saved Musa Shiya from being white-washed by sinking a one-hander.

Abell's Crusaders took their fourth straight victory when Elfs A.C. failed to put on an appearance. Diamond Packers retained their unbeaten record by turning back Elmo Tomita's Alex Sandwich Shop 25-17 behind the fine shooting of Pacheco and Martin, who scored 11 and nine points respectively. Au chalked up 12 for Alex.

Kaheka A.C. went great guns in handing the defending-champion Pirates their third defeat of the season by a 24-19 score. Shinkawa and Morizawa sparked the Kaheka victory by scoring six points each. Stan Lee, with eight digits, stood out for the Buccaneers.
